

Dear Friends in Unity,

I'd like to recommend a fabulous speaker that I hope you will invite to your church. I first connected with Tama Kieves, through her best-selling book This Time I Dance! Trusting the Journey of Creating the Work You Love (Tarcher/Penguin)

Many of my congregants deal with "finding their true work" so I flicked open this book. Her writing was so fresh, fun, and clever I couldn't put it down and I used the book in more than one of my sermons. Tama was a Harvard lawyer at a corporate law firm on partnership track who walked out of everything to wait tables and follow her dream of becoming a writer. And while finding my true work is not one of my issues; the book was so good, I took it with me on vacation. It came home stained with Tropicana SPF 30 sun tan oil, smells like coconut, the corners are dog-eared and the paragraphs highlighted with all kinds of notes in the margins!

Tama has a real gift of connecting with her audience. She's funny and genuine and our congregation gave her a standing ovation at both morning services and at her workshop as well. We sold out of her books and her workshop immediately following our Sunday morning worship attracted over 125 attendees.

Tama is a fresh voice that takes the "follow your passion" message to a whole new level. She has a powerful story and tells it with a spiritual authenticity that penetrates to the "real" of what happens when a person walks through their fears to live their truth. If you need an authentic "voice" that can speak straight to the heart of those spiritually seeking their most purposeful work – you'll want to be sure and invite Tama.

She's a super cool, fun, powerful presence. She lives in Denver and she can be reached at www.AwakeningArtistry.com - The Art of Living your Calling!

With Love,

Reverend Cherie Larkin
